After working with Wells Construction for two years, I can say with confidence we would hire them again. We are so proud of our new hospital.

We were referred to Wells Construction by two other veterinary facilities who were still happy with their projects years after completion. Our first planned project stalled due to financial market changes during the recession. Wells stuck by us, introduced us to several lenders and introduced us to real estate agent Robb Osborne who helped us locate a larger, less expensive, and newer building.

This time financing fell into place and Wells was with us every step of the way to completion. Wells helped us choose an architecture firm. Design/Build was a smooth process. Wells Construction kept everyone on a tight time-line so we completed our project within 30 days of our original schedule.

Wells Construction has a team that works together and lots of industry connections to make things happen. They are thorough, detailed and concerned about the ultimate outcome. They supported what we needed – a successful, timely project that met the budget provided.

Blue Ravine Animal Hospital and I would definitely recommend Wells Construction for your next project.

Sincerely,
